Harold –

I don't want to particularly call on use Mel Wulf as my attorney because Mark Land originally told me that he had made arrangements with Wulf for him (Mark) to pay the bill if in fact Wulf charged anything. Shortly after I returned from N.Y.C. I received a bill from Wulf with the notation that if I could pay – fine – but he would not pursue it. I forwarded the bill to Mark but I'm sure the bill was ignored as is most correspondence to Mark!

As soon as I am more financially able I will pay Wulf's bill but presently am unable to.

I certainly don't want to run up any more legal expense than I have to particularly if there is little chance of winning.

If the public equates Mark Lane's judgement of character in regards to Rev. Jim Jones - with James Earl - well, need I say anymore. I do agree with you wholeheartedly about James biggest mistake was involvement with Mark Lane.

I'm sorry I ever got involved with the man!!

I feel any lawyer fees that I might encounter with regards to invasion of privacy or any other H.S.C.A. matters would be throwing good money after bad.

The publicity surrounding the Coina mess leads me and all my friends to believe that Mark Lane is no judge of character at all and therefore just closes the case on James Earl at the same time. All my friends say this - not just me. Birds of a feather flock - guilt by association - whatever you want to call it come out to one thing ——— any respect people might have had for Lane certainly has been lost and Hereford - James - too

I hate to keep carrying on about this but I just can't imagine anyone getting involved — including me — in Mark Lanes "fantasies."

Please — at least for now — keep my feelings confidential.

By the way — in Jerry's situation of admitting the maps and being subject to conspiracy to jailbreak or not admitting and being subject to perjury. Couldn't a good lawyer get him out of it on grounds that evidence for either charge was illegally gotten. Isn't there a law that concerns this? Pass this along to Jerry if you haven't already.

Do you think my second letter to Blakey & Wolf was any good!?

Let me know what's going on — talk to you later.

Ollie
